BANDITS LOOT
BURLINGTON BANK;
TAKE $10,000Machine Gun Is Impressive
in Daylight Holdup
Yesterday

Seven heavily armed bandits who worked under the protection of a machine gun held up and robbed the Bank of Burlington of over $10,000 cash at 1:45 yesterday afternoon. The robbers escaped in two automobiles. One car, a big, black Buick sedan bearing an Alabama license, carried part of the gang west on the Elkhorn road, and the other, a big coupe, headed toward Milwaukee.

Four men entered the bank to do the "looting" job while others stood guard. A machine gun was placed on the sidewalk in front of the bank while the bandits worked. A woman customer was relieved of a cash deposit she had brought into the bank during the robbery.

Bank Bandits in Five Counties. Shortly after the robbery, bank guards and officials in five counties were on the alert for possible capture of the bandits, but late today no trace of them had been reported.

The Burlington robbery is the third holdup staged recently in southern Wisconsin counties. The first was at Elkhorn, and the second was at Bristol.

The Burlington loss was slightly over $10,000, which was covered by insurance, according to a statement of a Burlington informant to the News today.

Extra precautionary measures are being taken by banks throughout the district as a result of the numerous robberies, it was announced by Lake county bank association officials today. Many banks are installing bullet-proof glass fixtures and bank guard organizations are being perfected. Bank guards here yesterday received their stars and credentials from Sheriff Lester T. Tiffany.

Last Conference
Game To Be Played
With Warren H. S.

The season has not yet closed. No, and even though it was discouraging to players and fans, a determined effort will be made to climax the year by defeating Warren, an old rival and at present leader in the conference race, when Antioch meets Warren at the high school gymnasium tomorrow night for the wind-up game. Warren came out victor in the first encounter, 39-26.

Co. Allotments for
1930 Gasoline Tax
Collections Ready

Springfield, February 18.—County allotments of the 1930 gasoline tax collections, now ready for distribution, Garrett D. Kinney, director of finance, has announced, total $9,194,193.05. Apportioned on the basis of automobile license registrations, the amounts due each of the 102 counties range from $5,272.59 for Hardin county to $3,848,587.94 for Cook. Under the law, the counties submit their road improvement plans to the highway department for approval. When approval is obtained, checks drawn against the allotments, which are on deposit in the state treasury, will go to pay for county road work.

Contractors Consider
Proposals for Second
1931 Road Letting

Springfield, February 18.—Proposals for the second road letting of 1931 are in the hands of contractors who will enter bids for opening, March 4. The projects in this allotment include 86.80 miles of paving and 12.80 miles of grading. Preliminary work, engaging highway engineers at present, anticipate expenditures of from $47,000 to $49,000,000 for roads and bridges in 1931, if the present sources of highway funds are undisturbed.

1st Road Letting
Contracts Absorb
Emergency Fund

Springfield, February 18.—With all other road funds expended or obligated, and some 7 million of assured revenue for 1931 anticipated, the highway division, in its first road letting for the 1931 building season, absorbed an $18,000 emergency road fund voted by the federal government and allotted other federal funds to build as follows: 110.89 miles of paving, 24 miles of grading, 8.63 miles of widening to 40 feet, and the construction of twenty-five grade separations. Bids received indicate an average cost of $24,753 per mile, including the cost of cement.

"WHAT DO I DO NOW, BOSS?"

INVESTIGATE
CLUE TO DEEP
LAKE MURDER

A new clue which may lead to more revelations in the Deep Lake murder mystery is being followed by State's Attorney A. V. Smith and New York officials, who believe that Mrs. Yvonne Richman Marco, whom they arrested at Cleveland, possesses knowledge or information relevant to the murder.

They are acting upon a note written by Marco to her wife before she was killed last week in New York, which said: "You know what happened to 'Lil." Lil, authorities will, may be the Deep Lake murder victim. Mrs. Marco refuses to talk, or to return to New York to answer certain charges.

Announced

Practice on the dual plays, "Treasure Island" and "The Knave of Hearts," to be given at the high school March 6 by the seventh and eighth grades, is progressing very well, according to word from the director, Mrs. Phillips.

Written just a little over fifty years ago, "Treasure Island" will serve as a fitting representative of the older school of literature when contrasted with the more modern theme as exemplified in "The Knave of Hearts." Both plays are excellent representatives of the type of dramatic fare they represent. Both plays will have special scenic and lighting productions which will be adequate in all details. Tickets will have been placed on sale this week and already many requests for seats have been received. Proceeds of the plays will be used to help pay for the piano the Parent-Teachers' Association recently bought for the school.

The complete cast of characters for both plays follows:

CRITICS LAUD
PERFORMANCE AT
MUSIC FESTIVALChorus With an Antiphonal
Choir Scores Hit with Large Audience

The third annual Music Festival presented at the high school Monday evening attracted a number of the county's music critics, as well as a crowd which packed the auditorium and overflowed into the corridors. The critics and the audience were unanimous in expressing their appreciation and approval of the performances and approval of the program.

At Mr. J. D. Thomas, director of the musical organizations in Zion, remarked, it was very unusual to find a selection of Palestrina's sung in such perfection by a high school chorus. The impressive rendition of Palestrina's "Gloria Patri," by the combined girls' and boys' voices, aided by an antiphonal choir, undoubtedly was the outstanding selection of the program.

Favorable comments were made on the progress made by the junior orchestra, and the jazz band, which opened the program with snappy modern dance melodies with arrangements for instrumental and vocal soloists, also received much applause.

The entire performance was enjoyable and so arranged that there was constant variety. Hans von Holwede gave a clever demonstration of various interpretations of "Swanee River"; Fred Griffin caused feet to tap with his "Turkey in the Straw," and John Tellaisa, in a selection of decided contrast, played an intricate violin solo; the string quartet, composed of the individuals most skilled on string instruments, showed real harmonic talent.

The boys' and girls' glee clubs sang selections of wide differences in theme with equally fine interpretations, and the senior orchestra proved to be masters of their art in several difficult numbers.

Among the musical directors present were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Thomas, music director of Zion, Mr. Thomas is program director of station WCBD. Mr. S. H. Dorsey, director of vocal music in the high school at Lake Zurich, and his wife attended. Mr. Lee W. Peterson, orchestral director of Antioch last year, brought a large group of his students from Argosy high school. Others attending were Johannes Koscholny, director of music at the Maine high school in Des Plaines; Mr. Bradd, violin instructor of Waukegan; Monte Hinton, Allendale music leader, and Miss Louvrienne of Waukegan.

Much of the credit for the success of the musicale is due to the director, Edmund V. Jeffers, and the instructor of the junior members of the orchestra, Hans von Holwede.

STRANG ATTENDS
MEET OF FUNERAL
DIRECTORS

L. G. Strang recently spent two days in Chicago, where he attended the sessions of the joint conference on business procedure. The conference is a co-operative movement within the funeral profession to improve still further the standards of service to the public and to install better business methods.

All entries must be in by March 6.

With Father Frawley's official signature approving the entry, and George Wagner as manager, the boys are all set to go. Those entered are Ralph Thompson, Eugene Sheehan, Eugene Doyle, Clayton O'Haver, Barrett Snyder, William Waters, Frank Walsh, Dudley Kennedy, Robert Pachini and Charles Paddock.

Announcement of the schedule and St. Peter's first opponent will be made later.

MOOSE ARE IMPROVING.

The Moose put one over on the town team Tuesday evening, when they registered twice as many telling shots, scoring twenty-five points as against the thirteen rolled up by the town team. Waldweller, Moose guard, played an exceptionally fine game.

Fox Lake was sent home by the Moose, defeated by a narrow margin last night, 26-23. After Nelson, forward, and Chet Runyan, center, began hurling the globes into the ring.

The Grayslake town team will play the Moose here next Wednesday evening at the high school auditorium.

TOWN TEAM DEFEATS LAKE FOREST.

The apparent slump of the town team before the Moose Tuesday night was no reflection of their style of playing Monday at Lake Forest, when they defeated the Lake Forest A. C. 42-30. In a previous game with this team, they narrowly missed being the victors by one point.

ST. PETER'S GAME CANCELLED.

St. Peter's will play no game this week, but next Thursday the Lake Villa town team comes here to play them.

The boys were defeated by Gurnee here last Thursday, 30-23.

Dairymen to Discuss Vital Problems At
Sixth Annual Meet3,000 Expected to Gather at Chicago Theatre
March 10

More 3,000 farmers and delegates from Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana are expected to attend the sixth annual meeting of the Pure Milk Association to be held in Chicago at the Auditorium Theatre March 10 to work out the vital problems which are presenting to the milk producers of the Chicago metropolitan area.

W. C. McQueen, President Pure Milk Association.

The Pure Milk Association is made up of farmers who feel the urgent need of organization and co-operation in the production of high quality milk. It enables them to have service in weighing, check-testing, and marketing by a central organization which also works out the scientific and economic problems of the dairy farmer. The association markets the milk for the farmer.

During its years of organization, the association has played an important part in carrying out the statement made by the Chicago board of health that "Chicago's milk supply is far superior to any other metropolitan city in the world." The Pure Milk Association furnishes 2,000,000 quarts of milk daily to Chicago and suburbs.

Car Is Carried Under the Wheels of Train to Wilmot Switch

Death came instantly to Frank Spore, 35, Ciceron, Ill., when the car, driven by his companion, Victor Vaneecek, also of Ciceron, crashed into a Soo line freight train on the crossing north of Antioch Saturday evening. Both men were thrown from the car to the pavement, mangled Spore, and severely injuring Vaneecek, who was taken to the Victory Memorial hospital by the White and Tobin ambulance.

The car, caught under the train wheels, was dragged to the Wilmot switch. The force of the collision caused the four rear wheels of the freight car which had been hit to leave the tracks and bump over the ties until the trainmen discovered something was amiss.

Friends of the two, in four other cars, were following Spore and Vaneecek, returning from the Dew Drop Inn, near Salem, Wis., where the party had spent a portion of the evening. The leading car was traveling at quite a fast rate when it reached the crossing and, failing to hear the warning or observe the wigwag sign, it crashed against the twenty-third car of the train.

At the testimony given at the inquest it was stated that none had been drinking. The body of the unfortunate victim of the tragedy was taken at once to Strang's undertaking parlor and was removed to Ciceron Monday evening.

It is not believed that Vaneecek's injuries will prove fatal, as he was resting quietly at last report.

WATCH THE SEASONS

It would be wise for home and industry owners to inquire from responsible sources exactly what seasons of the year and weather conditions bring, in their localities, the greatest fire hazard.

A strong wind, a decisive drop in humidity, a long dry spell—any may be nature's fire warning. Yet it is an unfortunate fact that most of us, in the matter of fire, make a habit of locking the stable door long after the horse has been stolen.

There is no royal road to fire prevention, nor is there any mystery about it. It is simply a matter of common-sense plus application of ordinary knowledge. Little reflection is necessary to show that to accumulate rubbish to court disaster. That such reflection is rarely given the fire problem is shown by the fact that our annual waste reaches the tragic total of $500,000,000 and 10,000 lives.

During 1930, fire losses were greater than for several preceding years. The least we can do is to do our part, as individuals, to make 1931, as far as possible, a "fireless year."

NEED BETTER LAWS, NOT MORE LAWS

This country is swamped with laws. There are so many statutes that it is utterly impossible for the average citizen to be conversant with them, even superficially. This superfluity of statutory law tends to lower general respect for law. It should be the purpose of all legislative bodies to keep down to the minimum the number of legislative enactments.

Fewer laws, and laws of better quality, is the supreme need of the hour throughout the nation, says the Pasadena Star-News.

"There seems to be a widespread belief that you can restore prosperity from the public treasury. It is not only a false theory, but a vicious theory,"—Senator Borah of Idaho.

Alice Kuenzli spent the weekend at her home in Waukesha.

ARTICLE No. 6

An indication of the great popularity of auction and the hold it has on the public fancy, is the fact that the merchants of the country are now making use of interesting hands to advertise their products. The following hands are recommended as examples. They were given as problems in the preceding article:

CONTRACT BIDDING:

Solution: B's best play is a low trump. If he leads a spade and A is unable to overtrump the dummy, the location of the ten of hearts, the only trump card, will be known to be in B's hand and when Y obtains the lead, Y can score game by finessing against B. On the other hand, the trump lead does not give any information and the location

LINCOLN AND WASHINGTON

During the passing of February, we have commemorated the birth and lives of two foremost Americans, Abraham Lincoln and George Washington. The glory of these lives seems to have an ever-increasing halo. The afterglow of esteem has been of longer duration than the number of years they lived.

These two men who hold the highest places of honor of any of the fair sons of our land are in some respects alike, while in other respects they are very different. In similarity, both were elected to the presidency, the highest office of our nation. Washington has been called "The Father of Our Country" and Lincoln, "The Saviour of Our Country." Both were called to lead a cause in behalf of oppressed peoples. Washington led the colonists in rebellion against the oppression and exploitation of England, while Lincoln led the country in rebellion against the enslavement of a helpless race of mankind by another race which considered itself superior. Both of these men were Christian men, men of prayer. Both believed in the power of right, and that right made might, rather than that might made right. Their convictions were borne out in each case.

Their differences are more conspicuous than their marks of similarity.

Washington was born in wealth and fell heir to large amounts of property.

Lincoln was born in extreme poverty, and so far as we know never fell heir to any possessions worth mentioning.

Lincoln became great in spite of the handicaps of poverty, while Washington achieved fame in spite of the encumbrances of riches.

Washington had all the educational advantages of his day, while Lincoln's opportunities for education were very meager.

Lincoln's beginning was in the humblest surroundings, while Washington's was in the best of that time.

Lincoln possessed nothing which could give him political pull, while Washington's opportunities in this respect were greater.

Both were great men. They are not great because they became presidents standing by their convictions. Their greatness is also evidenced by the character of the friendships they had; as the character of a man's friends is the index to his own character, so also is the character of his enemies.

It is doubtful if any of us can fully realize the contributions which these great men made to our nation and how much we have benefited by them.

More important than keeping your teeth clean is keeping your teeth. Some dentifrices clean your teeth but contribute nothing to their preservation. Raxall Milk of Magnesia Tooth Paste, on the other hand, not only beautifies your teeth by removing discoloring stains but also tends to lessen tooth decay by neutralizing the acids that cause it. THE INDIVIDUAL AND HIS BANK

By ROMB C. STEPHENSON

President American Bankers Association

BANKERS recognize that their business carries especially heavy public responsibilities and welcome all sound measures to aid them meet the duties this imposes. Unceasing efforts to bring about continually improving methods to safeguard depositors in banks of all kinds have long been unpermitted in the plans of bankers' organizations throughout the nation. They are not the outgrowth merely of the past year of business adversity, but have been carried on actively for many years and have resulted in great progress along lines of better, safer banking methods. Although banking along with all business has suffered reverses, conditions in this field have been far less severe than they would have been had not bankers been widely successful in their endeavors to develop the high standards of banking that now generally prevail.

The American Bankers Association and bankers' organizations in every state actively support the principle of government supervision of banking. The national banks, which receive their charters to do business from the federal government, are under the supervision of the Comptroller of the Currency at Washington. Through his efficient staffs of expert bank examiners in every section he has the duty and powers to keep watch of the way every national bank is being conducted, to suggest desirable changes in its policies or methods and even to step in and take control for the protection of the depositors if such action is warranted. The state banks, also, which are chartered by the various state governments, are subject to similar supervision and control by state bank officials. In addition banks in many places have long maintained voluntary clearing house associations which enforce even closer supervision over their members.

Bankers Favor Public Supervision
Present laws adequately enforced contain ample provisions for government supervision. Bankers universally believe in strong, capable banking departments manned by officials with the discretion and courage to enforce these laws and act under them as the common welfare demands. They believe that these public officials should be paid sufficient salaries to command the services of men of character, ability and a resolute spirit of public service. They believe also that the banking departments should be kept free from all political or other special influence in order to be able to act at all times with single-minded independence solely for the benefit of the public interest.

Although banks in the United States operating under state or national charters are thus subject to supervision of public authority, they are strictly private business enterprises. They are owned by their stockholders and administered by officials chosen through the boards of directors which their stockholders elect. No bank is owned or operated by the United States Government, nor, with one small exception in a western state, by any state government. The function of government in banking is to promote and enforce careful banking administration through the system of examination and supervision which I have described. This, however, does not relieve the individual depositor from the necessity of judging and choosing carefully as to his banking relations, just as in his other business or professional relations. He must inquire for himself into the character and type of institution and men he shall do business with, satisfying himself as to their reputation, reliability and capability. These qualities are essential to complete the element of safety and dependability in any human institution.

An Illusory Law

The bank deposit guaranty law in any form is a snare and a delusion, declares a banker in a state where it has been tried, adding: "It is a license and encouragement to irresponsible banks and banking and penalized capital solvency and prudent banking. It creates a sense of security in the minds of the unthinking and uninformed that is false and impossible to be realized on ultimately. To compare it to legitimate insurance is without reason and absurd. It jeopardizes the solvency of all banks and the safety of all depositors for the theoretical safety of a few. Guaranty schemes always have been, are and always will be impotent, futile and disastrous. It is not new. Has been tried, failed and discarded at intervals for more than 100 years in this country. No well-informed, honest and intelligent mind can accept it in principle or practice. Competent bank supervision and restriction of banks to territory that will warrant sufficient capital investment and accounts is the only sane and honest course and will afford all the guaranty the depositing public is entitled to as compared with all other human affairs."

A "Breathing" Battery Operates Newest Radio for Unwired Homes

A new and radically different kind of battery operated radio receiver, requiring no storage battery and free from the defects of the dry battery set, has made its appearance on the market for use in unwired homes.

The new "air cell" sets—so-called because of the "breathing" air cell battery it utilizes—are considered the final solution to the problem of satisfactory radio reception in the millions of unwired homes in rural sections. Broadcasting officials believe it will eventually increase the radio audience by approximately 8,000,000. This is based on the fact that four of the six million farm families in the country have not yet purchased radio receivers because heretofore there has been no receiver which gave satisfaction in unwired homes.

FORD COMFORT

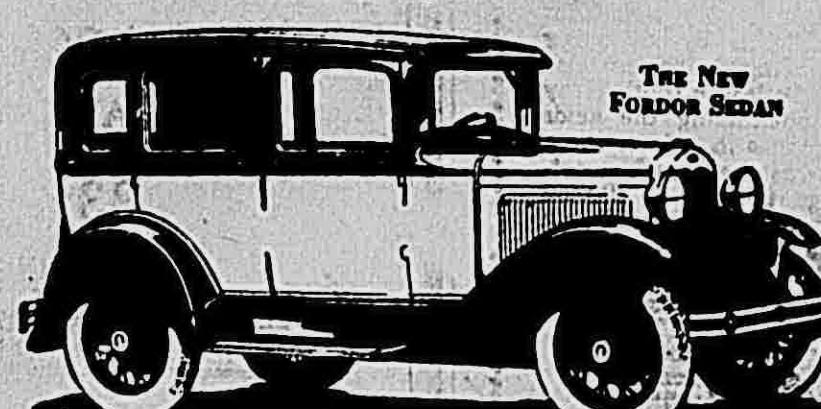

Every new Ford is equipped with four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers

ONE of the fine things about driving the new Ford is the way it takes you over the miles without strain or fatigue. No matter how long the trip, you know it will bring you safely, quickly, comfortably to the journey's end.

The seats are generously wide, deeply cushioned and carefully designed to conform to the curves of the body. Every new Ford has specially designed springs and four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers. These work both ways—up and down. They absorb the force of road shocks and also provide a cushion against the rebound of the springs.

Other features that make the new Ford a value far above the price are the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, silent, fully enclosed four-wheel brakes, more than twenty ball and roller bearings, extensive use of fine steel forgings, aluminum pistons, chrome silicon alloy valves, torque-tube drive, Rustless Steel and unusual accuracy in manufacturing.

In addition, you save many dollars because of the low first cost of the new Ford, low cost of operation and up-keep, and low yearly depreciation.

TWAS BRILLIG AND THE SLITHY TOVES—

veal to Child the Magic
Which Lies in Poetry and the Classics

What mystery lies in those words! What allure, and yet what nonsense! Twas Brillig—! What was brillig, I wonder? What does brillig mean? Instantly my mind is carried away, pondering this. To some, it might express the awakening of heat; others might see waves tossing wildly; while another may see simply a concoction of red greens. And the slithy toves? Pictures arise in the mind, fantastical, illogical, yet how satisfying that it is us which craves mystical wholesome adventures.

Soul-Food Needed. It is lamentable to think of the little children whose imaginations have never been stimulated by poetry, whose parents were unversed, having no conception of the magic of letters, knowing nothing of beauty of combined words and them. The souls of the children destined in many instances to be starved without realising it.

Many fine selections are studied in the schools, after the child has advanced sufficiently, but every precious year that slips away takes something from his power of imagination.

Attracted by sounds.

When the future American citizen is still grasping eagerly at each new word is the time to start giving him poetry. Even before he has started to school, he may be taught to recite lines from Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland"—which masterpiece ought to be a part of every child's heritage. He will delight in the queer sounds, the nonsense, the pure rhythm and when he has mastered them, will radiate glee.

Combat Wrong Influences.

If you do not shut your child out, if you share with him your interesting tasks and ideals, he will be much more immune to the outside influences which so often wreck havoc with the patient work of the mother in teaching him proper habits.

To counter-balance these effects, you must gain the confidence of your child and how more easily than by lending yourself whole-heartedly to learning a poem with him and telling him interesting facts about the life of the author, and the circumstances under which the particular selection was written?

Have you noticed how a young mind revels in rollicking, rhythmic poems, with beauty of word and meter—as Poe's "Annabelle Lee" or some of Longfellow's simple poems? He may not then understand them all, but his mind will be intrigued with the sounds, and with the sense of learning them. In time he will appreciate them, be thankful and proud of his acquaintance with them, even though they may not be all retained in his memory.

Develop Understanding.

As his mind develops, it requires more difficult selections. "Thanatos," which has no definite rhyme, or parts of the modern Banberg's "Good Morning, America," would be stimulating, not only to his mind, but also to his perceptions.

Children naturally turn to stories, rather than to poetry, and guidance

Combats that Shine

That bheug—a shiny nose! What feminine heart does not contract with horror at the thought? You have experienced it, perhaps frequently, or only occasionally. Some of those reflecting noses misbehave only after application of the puff has been neglected for a few hours; others seem to be chronically rambunctious, and it is these that must be considered.

A few of these imitation mirror have a hard, brilliant pink glittering to which powder simply won't cling. Such little noses should be treated to an oil or cream massage, as the natural oil is lacking. If lotions were substituted entirely for soap and water cleansing for a time, the pores would be given a chance to collect some natural oil.

Far more numerous, however, are those shiny centerpieces due to an oily skin. After cleansing your skin thoroughly with a cleansing cream, wash your face with warm water and a pure, mild soap. Then tighten your pores with a mild astringent before applying foundation cream, powder and rouge. A good astringent will tighten up your skin and prevent too much oil coming out on your face to spoil the lovely, smooth effect for which you are striving.

Besides this external treatment, oily skins usually require some definite treatment from the inside. Incorrect diet has much to do with oily skins, and as a rule cutting down on sweets and starches will help to cure this condition. I would not advise you to begin a strenuous diet without first consulting your doctor, but you can safely use a little care in selecting your food.

Are You His Companion? Time and perseverance are required. Many times, no doubt, you will have need to consult your books for details in regard to the poet or author's life, or in choosing poems at the proper time of adventure, travel, inspiration, as from Kipling. You will derive benefit by increasing your own knowledge, making yourself a more interesting companion to your friends and family, and keeping abreast with your children.

Lenten Recipes

One of the signs of a good cook is her ability to keep appetites alert; and the advent of Lent, with its opportunity to feature a variety of fish courses, gives many a housewife the chance to establish a new reputation for cookery.

For any evening party, halibut à la king is both unusual and delightful.

Creamed Tuna Fish on Toast is a dish that the children especially will welcome, and it gives mother a splendid opportunity, too, for introducing more milk into their diet.

Halibut à la King. Boil halibut upon toast and cover with the following sauce: Melt 3 tablespoons butter; fry in it 1 cup fresh mushrooms, broken in pieces, or canned button mushrooms, sliced lengthwise. Add 4 tablespoons flour and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Stir until frothy, add 2 cups rich milk, and stir until the sauce boils. Set over hot water. Cream 2 tablespoons butter, add beaten yolks of 2 eggs, 1/4 teaspoon onion juice, 1 teaspoon pure cider vinegar. Arrange mounds of finely flaked 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, and 1/2 teaspoon paprika, and stir into the hot mixture. Continue stirring until the egg is set, then add 1/4 cup chopped stuffed Spanish olives. Pour sauce over fish and serve.

Creamed Tuna Fish on Toast. Melt 2 tablespoons butter, add 2 level tablespoons flour and stir until well blended. Add 1 cup milk and stir constantly until thickened. Season with 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 2 tablespoons tomato catsup, and a dash of pepper. Add 1 cup flaked tuna fish and serve on buttered toast.

Savory Sardines. 3/4 cup butter
3 tablespoons boiling water
1/2 tablespoon lemon juice
A little prepared mustard
2 egg yolks
1/4 teaspoon salt

Divide the butter into three pieces, put one piece of it with the egg yolk and lemon juice over hot water. Stir until butter melts and mixture is blended. Add another third and when it is melted add the remainder, then slowly add the boiling water and seasonings. Cook over hot water until thick, stirring constantly. Arrange a large can of sardines on strips of thin crisp toast and place in a hot oven or grill for two or three minutes. Spread with a teaspoon of this sauce and serve at once.

Vogue For Canape Grows

Appetizing Newcomer on Party Food List Is Boon to Hostess

THE canape is one of the newcomers on the party food list but it is already extremely popular and very chic. It is attractive in appearance and appealing in flavor, and it has made entertaining much easier. To the smart hostess it is as necessary as the after-dinner bowl of fruit.

For tea or evening refreshments there is nothing smarter than a tray of canapes of various shapes and garnishes. For a first course at lunch or dinner a canape is again correct, and convenient; it can be arranged and placed before the guests arrive.

For a first course a fruit canape is sometimes chosen. A ring of sliced bananas is arranged around the edge of a round of bread which has been spread with cream cheese. In the center are heaped minced dates mixed with mayonnaise. The canape is placed on a lettuce leaf with mayonnaise as a garnish. Sometimes a slice of pineapple is used instead of the bread.

For canapes which are to be eaten with the fingers either bread plain or toasted on one side is used. It is usually spread with a flavored butter—anchovy paste, deviled ham, horseradish, mustard or cheese are among the savory materials which mix well with butter. Colorful garnishes are then made from "combinations" of pimentos, green pepper, ripe and green olives, egg yolks and white. Tiny pickled onions and capers can also be used. All kinds of interesting effects are possible by varying the arrangements of these garnishes. Your tray of canapes can be a really lovely picture, and they will taste just as good as they look.

Mustard Butter: 1 tablespoon prepared mustard to 4 tablespoons butter.

TOPPY'S TRAVELS

Synopsis: Toppy leaves home to follow his canary. After many adventures, he escapes from his enemies, the Pillows. His friends, Mr. Frog and Toy, the dewdrop, go to another land to arrange for the cushions to fight the Pillows. Thus they hope to rescue the Cloud-Queen, whose land is invaded by the Pillows. Toppy learns they are being successful, and that the Pillow-Queen is already calling for soldiers. Toppy is discovered. Continue:

The three guards who had left the garden now turned and rushed toward Toppy to capture him, but he waved his sword so fiercely that they backed into the garden.

The boy stepped into the gateway and challenged the soldiers. "Try and take me, if you dare."

There was room for but one soldier to pass through the gateway, and as each one advanced, Toppy threatened him with his sword and waved it in his face until he retreated into the garden. For a time Toppy kept them back, and blessed the Cloud for building high stone walls about the garden. The Clouds could float and jump higher than their enemies at night, although they were more helpless during the day. The Pillow guards could not escape from the garden, as there was only one gateway. Toppy knew that he would soon become exhausted and be captured, but he continued to defend each Pillow who approached him.

At length the leader of the group who had been talking to the soldiers walked toward the boy. "Time is flying!" he called to his men. "The Queen will be needing us. We will have to charge."

The warriors hesitated, knowing full well that some would be slain. Toppy took advantage of their fear, saying, "If you all promise to leave the garden and not come back, or attempt to capture me, I will allow you to pass through without hurting any of you."

Toppy was breathless when they halted at last before a locked door. The lad's hungry eyes widened in delight, for there was more food lying by the door.

"This is the secret room," Mr. Frog gasped. "There is no time to be lost. Where is the key?"

Toppy fumbled in his clothes, while he admired Mr. Frog's wisdom. Just as the pursuing Pillows rounded the corner and dashed toward them, Toppy found the key, unlocked the door, gathered up the food and tumbled into the room.

CRYSTAL THEATRE

An unusual comedy drama will be seen at the Crystal next Tuesday night when J. B. Rotnour and company present the play, "Nancy Gets a Break." Loads of fun in this play, J. B. says, so come prepared to laugh at the comic antics of Billy, the comedian, and the ludicrous situations developed during the progress of the play.

There will be the usual high class vaudeville specialties between the acts by Billy, the Twins, Tom Brown, and others.

The Rotnour Players continue to draw packed houses to the Crystal every Tuesday night.

KENOSHA THEATRE

The Kenosha Theatre will present Thursday, Friday and Saturday Ronald Colman's latest talking picture, said to be in a vein new to the star, which bears the title, "The Devil to Pay." It is an original screen story and dialogue by the famous English dramatist, Frederick Lonsdale, well-known on this side of the Atlantic for his numerous stage successes. Though several of the Lonsdale pieces have been adapted to the screen, "The Devil to Pay" is his first attempt at writing directly for screen production.

DISTRICT TOURNAMENT AT WAUKEGAN NEARS

A. T. H. S. and Barrington Play 1st Game; Winner Engages Palatine

The culmination of the basketball season for high school teams in this district will be held at the Waukegan high school March 4, 5, 6, and 7. The district includes seven Class B schools from the northwest conference, Palatine, Antioch, Barrington, Warren, Wauconda, and Lake Zurich; three Chicago schools, which have not been entered on previous years, Lake View, Schurz, and Roosevelt; and two other Class A schools, Highland Park, Waukegan and Libertyville.

The first game will be played Wednesday evening at 7:00, between Antioch and Barrington. The outcome of any game with Antioch this season is open much speculation. In the last encounter with Barrington, Antioch was the victor, and they do not look for much opposition in the first game. Anyone following the Antioch basketball teams from season to season has been impressed by the fact that the teams always seem to develop a winning complex along about tournament time. They failed to make the grade in the conference tournament, but they came through to the finals.

The second game Wednesday evening will be played between the Lake View school and Schurz high. Waukegan and Roosevelt high play the 9 o'clock game, Wednesday.

Warren, rated the highest in this conference, and Wauconda, a dangerous rival also near the top of the percentage column, play the first game Thursday evening, the Lake View-Schurz winner will take on Libertyville, another contender for the lead, while Palatine, doped one of the champions for fine defensive work and guarding, will play the Antioch-Barrington victor.

Highland Park or Deerfield-Shields will play the winner of the Waukegan-Roosevelt game Friday evening, and Lake Zurich, the smallest though scrappy team in the conference, will pit their men against the winning team of the Gurnee-Wauconda game at 7 o'clock.

The semi-finals will be run off Saturday afternoon between the Friday victors, the winners of the games with Libertyville and Palatine engaged for the first runoff at 2 o'clock.

Two games will be played to determine the final champion, second, third, and fourth winners Saturday evening.

The losers of the afternoon will play for third and second place in the evening.

The new "air cell" sets—so-called because of the "breathing" air cell battery it utilizes—are considered the final solution to the problem of satisfactory radio reception in the millions of unwired homes in rural sections. Broadcasting officials believe it will eventually increase the radio audience by approximately 8,000,000. This is based on the fact that four of the six million farm families in the country have not yet purchased radio receivers because heretofore there has been no receiver which gave satisfaction in unwired homes.
